FORMER CONGRESSMAN FROM BAY ST. LOUIS PASSES ON AT ORLEANS

Eaton Jackson Bowers Laid to Rest Friday Afternoon
With Masonic Ceremony—Had Long Lived Here
And Prominently Identified.

Eaton J. Bowers, seventy-two years old, former Mississippi congressman from the Sixth District and former resident of Bay St. Louis who died in New Orleans on Thursday of last week, was buried from the Methodist church here with services by the Rev. A. J. Boyles and interment in the family plot in Cedar Rest Cemetery.

Mr. Bowers was a native of Canton and was educated there and at Mississippi Military Institute. At the early age of nineteen, Mr. Bowers was admitted to the bar and entered practice of law. He was at one time a partner of the late Ben Lane Posey of Bay St. Louis, and also acted as general counsel for the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad. In 1904 he was elected to Congress, after having served the state as both Senator and Representative. In 1912, Mr. Bowers resigned as Congressman and returned to Gulfport where he practiced law for many years, before going to New Orleans to live where he served that state in a number of prominent offices.

Mr. Bowers organized the local Masonic Lodge and was a member of the Boston, Pickwick and Chess, Checkers and Whist Club of New Orleans, and also a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C.

Surviving the deceased are his widow, the former Talulah Posey, one daughter, Miss Sallie Bowers, and three sons, Sam, Posey and Eaton J. Bowers, II, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Bowers lived in Bay St. Louis for many years, his children born here. Before long, while he resided in the property known as the de Montuzin place and later purchased the original Ulman estate corner Ulman avenue and North Beach, site of Hotel Reed, and lived there until he moved to Gulfport.

Mr. Bowers for many years had his law offices over the Hancock Bank Bldg., associated with Judge Will T. McDonald, of Memphis, and previously to that with Chaffee and Black of New Orleans. The law firm was one of the best known in the country. The Bowers family were the very essence of community life in Bay St. Louis, participating in all social and civic activities and Mr. Bowers was the director of the destinies of Hancock county in more ways than one. He was ever a motivating spirit. He was first in all movements for better government and one of the prime movers in working for supremacy by white Democrats. His memory has left a lasting impress and those who knew him will never forget his splendid citizenship and the fact he was ever a friend to man.

And Later Years Superintendent for H. Weston
Lumber Company.

David Luther Russ died at his home in Logtown, Mississippi, on Friday, October 27, at 4:45 o'clock P. M., after an illness of one week. He was born in Pearlington, Mississippi, on January 14, 1875, a son of Ernest Russ and Mrs. Florence Moye Russ.

In early life he started work for the Poitevent & Favre Lumber Company at Pearlington as a lumber inspector and checked. In April 1902, he moved to Logtown and entered the employ of the H. Weston Lumber Company as foreman of one of their lumber yards. He was soon promoted to foreman of one of the sawmills, which position he held for a few years, and was made superintendent of all of the sawmill operations, holding this position until the mills ceased operation a few years ago.

Mr. Russ was a member of the Methodist church, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Church

The services were conducted by Rev. E. E. Price of the Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Culpepper of the Baptist Church and Rev. A. J. Boyles of Bay St. Louis, with interment in Logtown cemetery. Full Masonic services were conducted by members of Diamond Lodge, assisted by Masons from the Bay St. Louis and Piquette Lodges. Pall bearers were: Willie Maskew, August Moran, C. C. Weston, E. B. ANIMATED ROSARY STAGED BY ST. JOSEPH ACADEMY SUNDAY

The Reverend Leo F. Fahey
Composed Words For Air
"God Bless America."

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in St. Joseph Academy Hall, an animated rosary, composed of pupils of St. Joseph Academy, was formed and the rosary said before a beautifully decorated altar built especially for his service on the stage of the auditorium.

The children, dressed in white and wearing white veils and the smaller girls with wreaths, entered the hall and began reciting the rosary. Each girl saying the "Our Father" was distinguished by a blue satin cape. At the end of the Rosary, Father Leo F. Fahey gave a short talk, stating that on the feast of Christ, the King, it was fitting also to honor His Mother and that this service was dedicated to Her. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was held immediately after. Six members of the St. Stanislaus College Band, accompanied at the piano by Sister Antoinette, played the music of the song "God Bless America" to which everyone sang words composed by Father Fahey for a special song for this occasion.

The service was beautiful and impressive and was attended by a large number of persons.

COURT IN FAVOR OF HARRISON

County — Refuses to Halt
Bridge Repair Contracts;
Even Though Repairs
Exceeded Original
Cost.

Judge L. C. Corban in written opinion Monday at Gulfport said that the court was without authority to annul decisions of the board of supervisors unless a violation of the statutes was shown and declined to set aside contracts awarded by the supervisors to repair the Poppas ferry and d'Berleville bridges spanning Back Bay of Biloxi in Beat One.

The court's decision was based on a hearing held last week on an appeal by a large group of taxpayers who claimed that the contracts awarded last month by the supervisors for repair of the bridges in question were "excessive," the cost in the case of the Poppas ferry bridge exceeding the original cost of the structure.

Judge Corban held that the board of supervisors had jurisdiction in the matter of awarding contracts and insofar as the records disclosed, the board had followed the law in advertising for bids and awarding the contracts for the Back Bay bridge repairs.

The judge maintained he was not authorized by law to interfere in matters over which the board had discretion.

Cites Regular Actions.

Judge Corban pointed out that the record showed that the board had employed engineers at its July meeting to prepare plans for the two bridges in question, and later during the month approved the plans upon which the bids were asked. No objections, he said, were filed to the plans and on September 15 the board in accordance with its advertisement, awarded contracts.

Five days thereafter, it was maintained, the group of taxpayers filed a protest requesting that the contracts be rescinded on the grounds that the bids were "excessive, unreasonable and unfair." No charge of fraud was made in the written protest, it was pointed out, but the sole contention was the price was "too high."

Coast Members W. B. A. Motor to Bay St. Louis For Regional Meeting.

Miss Partidge was recently elected President of the National Fraternal Congress of America and both she and Mrs. Miller will attend an insurance convention to be held in December at the Edgewater, Gulf Hotel when prominent insurance leaders from all over the country will meet there.

GENERAL ELECTION TUESDAY

Voters of Mississippi Will Go to Polls November 7—
Election in Hancock.

Voters of Mississippi will go to the polls on Tuesday of next week, November 4, and vote for every State and county office, from governor down to the humblest beat office.

They will vote for the recent Democratic nominees of August last, since there is no opposing party.

This election is of interest more than ordinarily inasmuch voters will be called upon to vote for or against two amendments to the constitution "to change the law that citizens may be by will bequeath and devise property to churches and church related institutions" under restrictions and limitations.

Mississippi is the only state in the union where one is prohibited from bequeathing to churches and church institutions and it is planned and hoped this ban will be removed.

It is important in order that the amendment carry that every voter cast his ballot in the affirmative. A person not voting will be counted as voting against the proposition.

The tickets for Hancock county as a matter of course carry the amendment and the names of every state and county nominee. It is urged that voters turn out and cast their ballot. The same voting places as provided for last August will be in use again.

DARING HOLD-UP IN TOWN

Two Men Enter Palmisano's
Tavern and Carry Away
Two Slot Machines—
Loss Recovered.

On Friday night, a bold and daring robbery was committed when three men riding in an old automobile drove up to the Palmisano Tavern on Highway 90 and two entered and ordered sandwiches, while the third remained in the car. When Mrs. Palmisano retired to the rear to prepare the order, the two men who entered each grabbed a slot machine and carried it to the automobile, the motor of which had been kept running, and made a rapid getaway. As soon as Mrs. Palmisano discovered the loss, she notified the local police and a widespread search was immediately started. The slot machines and abandoned car were later found in the vicinity of Pine Hills and the local police were commended for their good work.

OFFICIAL OPINION SAYS WORKERS MAY AID VOTERS NOVEMBER 7

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 22—Attorney General Greek L. Rice had ruled today that officers holding the election November 7 may call attention of all voters to the fact that if they omit voting on the two constitutional amendments appearing on the ballot they will be counted as voting against them.

The attorney general also pointed out that persons are not required to carry their poll tax receipts to the polls in order to vote in this election. In a letter to Judge O. B. Taylor, director of the State Mortmain Committee, Jackson, in reference to the two amendments which would revise present laws that prohibit bequests to church-related institutions, General Rice declared:

1. There is no objection to the officers holding the election on November 7th, advising those voting in the election that if they omit voting on the two amendments appearing on the ballot they will be counted as voting against them. In order for the amendments to be adopted, a majority of the qualified electors voting in that election must vote for the proposed amendments.

2. It will be improper for such officers to advise a voter to vote

SAINT MARGARET'S DAUGHTERS PLAN TO HELP THE POOR

Campaign On For Winter
Assistance to Children,
Sick and Needy.

St. Margaret's Daughters held its regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Y. Blaine, president, with a quorum present.

Reports on charity dispensed during the past month revealed the usual good work performed by the organization, with several children helped to enter school, medicine and nourishment furnished the sick, transportation of a hospital for a person needing an emergency operation, and clothing and food to needy persons.

As the organization constantly needs funds to continue their good work, it was decided to have a turkey raffle which will be placed out immediately, the turkey to be raffled about November 20th. It was also decided to place poor baskets in the various grocery stores about town in which persons doing their daily shopping might place any article of food, thereby doing their daily good act and helping a most worthy cause.

Always with the approach of winter, the calls for charity on the organization increase and it is necessary to find different means in order to alleviate the sufferings of the poor.

RED CROSS PARADE SATURDAY

Chairman Horace L. Kergosien
Says Outlook For
Initiating Red Cross
Roll Call Bright.

Horace L. Kergosien, roll call chairman for Hancock county American Red Cross, announced that plans for the monster parade demonstration for Armistice Day, ushering in the annual membership roll call, continues at encouraging pace.

He tells The Echo that every civic body and members of all other organizations and unit have united in the cause and are combining to make this, perhaps, the biggest parade in the history of Bay St. Louis. The American Legion, Hancock county post, members, Spanish American war veterans, Sea Scouts, Boy and Girl Scouts, St. Stanislaus College Band and Bay High School Band have signified their willingness to join and lend a helping hand.

Red Cross is America's great humanitarian gesture and universally recognized. There is no reason why Hancock county and Bay St. Louis should not "Go Over the Top" in this drive.

Horace Kergosien is active in the cause and his associates are willing workers. Surely no one will fail to co-operate.

Remember the date, November 11—next Saturday.

said on Sundays, and with the blessing of the graves in both cemeteries, and throngs of people visited the cemeteries throughout the day and placed flowers on the graves of their dead commemorating their memory.

At Banquet Tonight.

MAKES OYSTER REPORT

Revenues For Two Years
$46,926—Expenses For
Same Period $42,823,
Report.

A total of 10,021 barrels of oysters and 17,110 barrels of oyster shells have been planted on reefs along the Mississippi Gulf Coast during the past two years, the state sea food commission asserted in its biennial report on file Monday at the offices of the governor and secretary of state at Jackson.

The commission's report stated its revenues for the two years amounted to $46,926, including $5888 at the beginning of the period. It listed its expenses at $42,823. Of the income, the largest amount, $26,425, came from taxes on 1,057,004 barrels of oysters. Privilege licenses netted $13,583, and fines for violation of oyster laws amounted to $693.

"The commission is continually increasing the area of the public reefs of Mississippi and using every reasonable effort to increase the size and quality of the oysters taken," the report said, "and it is the aim of the commission to enlarge the productive area of the bottom of the waters of our state until Mississippi will have sufficient oyster reefs to provide for its industry without fishermen being required to fish oysters in adjoining states."

The sea food commission is composed of S. C. Spencer, Ocean Springs; Joseph O. Mauffray, Bay St. Louis; Julius Lopez, Biloxi; E. H. Bacot, Pascagoula, and V. S. Smith, Pass Christian.

MEETING THIS FRIDAY AFTERNOON TO SEEK LARGER MEMBERSHIP

Mother's Club Needs Bigger
Group in Order Burden
May Not Be Carried by Few—Plans.

A meeting of members and others interested in St. Stanislaus Mothers' Club has been called at the college for this Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of re-organization in order the club may have a larger membership and a wider scope of work in the sense that it may intensify and accomplish more. This is possible, it is pointed out, by a larger membership.

It is said "the last year or so the work has been done almost exclusively by a very small handful" and it is felt that this "is an imposition to have these good ladies undertake so much with so little help even though they have been so willing to do so."

"As a consequence," says President Bro. Peter, who is particularly assisted in this work by Vice President Bro. Alexis, "we would like to have all the mothers of our boys join anew the Mothers' Club, and revivify the organization. It does not mean that you will be called upon only to work, but you will be given the opportunity to meet with

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK.

BEGINNING on Monday, November the 5th, the people of the United States will celebrate American Education Week.

Since 1921, the ideals of education and life have been advertised a bit during a week in November. This year the subject is "Education for the American Way of Life." Teachers and citizens are urged during the week to rededicate themselves to the cause of education and democracy.

This is one week that The Sea Coast Echo is glad to endorse. While every good citizen should be interested in the cause of education and democracy throughout the year, it is not a bad idea to emphasize these subjects during a particular week, which serves as an occasion for public expression of our loyalty to the two causes.

Education and democracy must go hand in hand. Certainly, the success of democracy depends on the education of the citizens of a nation. To properly participate in the blessings of a free government, it is vitally important that the citizens understand the process. It is also important that they have a clear conception of their relative privileges and this can come only from the right education.

THE RED CROSS SERVES.

THE Red Cross, which will launch its annual membership drive on Armistice Day, had 6,666,680 members last year. This is the highest peace-time membership in the history of the organization.

It is also reported that the Reserve Corps of Nurses attained a new high enrollment of 24,479 and that nearly 16,000 nurses have been specified as the "first reserve" from which the organization can draw nurses in event of an emergency.

The Red Cross, which has 3,700 chapters throughout the nation, serves the people of this country in peace as well as in war. It has been extremely useful in rendering assistance to disabled veterans and their families and last year more than 150,000 ex-service men took advantage of the services of the Red Cross.

The disaster relief work of the Red Cross is too well known to require specific comment. While most communities have little occasion to all for the aid that the Red Cross extends, it is a comfort to all to know that a national organization stands ready to promptly prevent suffering in the event of a catastrophe. If the Red Cross did nothing more than stand ready for emergency relief to stricken communities, it would deserve the support of the people of the country.

ZANE GREY.

THE death of Zane Grey reminds us that he wrote more than fifty novels and sold more than 17,000,000 copies of them. Mr. Grey's stories were not up to accepted literary standards, but the people bought them. One sold a million and a half copies which anybody will admit is a pretty good sale.

While the author spent the latter years of his life enjoying the fortune that came to him, the early days of his writing often found him hungry. His first book was written in a dingy flat, under the flickering gas lamp of a tiny kitchen. It was rejected by publishers and finally published by the author on borrowed money. This was in 1904 and the book, unlike his other novels, sold poorly.

In a few years, he used up all his savings and those of his wife, who, however, would not let him abandon his writing. Again, he faced discouragement when publishers rejected "The Last of the Plainsmen." Later, he wrote his first Western romance, "The Hermitage of the Desert," which was a success from the sales point of view. Then came, "Riders of the Purple Sage" which started his great popularity and rewarded him with financial success.

The life story of this writer is filled with disappointments which would have discouraged most men. However, he retained faith in himself and lived to enjoy the fame and wealth that was rightly his.

HIGHWAYS FOR 1960.

SOME years ago, when highway construction began on a large scale, there was the general idea that after a period of major construction, the nation would have the highways that it required and that the expense of additional construction would be limited.

Experience has shown however, that this is not to be the case. The number of automobiles has increased and the demand for improved highways is more widespread than ever. In fact, Paul V. Huffman president of the Studebaker Corporation, says that an outlay of $50,000,000,000 for the construction of highways and streets will be necessary by 1960 to accommodate the 40,000,000 motor cars and trucks that will be used at that time.

According to our arithmetic, this means $2,000,000,000 a year for new highway construction. This is quite a sum. It may be an interesting item for those taxpayers who have the idea that the future will bring them reduced levies.

It might not be too early to call your attention to the Red Cross roll call which begins on November 11th.

With two Thanksgiving Days ahead of us the people of the United States ought to be able to express their thanks.

SENATE PASSES NEUTRALITY BILL.

BY a vote of 63 to 30 the Senate placed the stamp of its approval on the Administration's neutrality bill after a month's debate. It had previously rejected by a vote of 60 to 33 an amendment to restore the existing embargo on arms.

The bill now goes to the House, which has been marking time awaiting action by the Senate. The House debated the neutrality question last spring, and it, therefore, will not consume anything like as much time as the Senate in considering the bill. In fact, it is now thought that the House will act within a week and that the Congress will adjourn immediately thereafter until the regular session in January.

It is conceded that the vote in the House on the particular point of lifting the embargo on arms will be close, but the House leaders claim a "safe" majority.

Congressman Wm. M. Colmer points out the salient points of the bill, and informative are well worthy of careful perusal.

Arms sales—Repeals the present embargo and permits the sale of arms to belligerents for cash. Forbids any American ship to carry arms to any belligerent port in any part of the world.

Shipping—Bars American vessels from transporting supplies or passengers to belligerent ports, with the exception of South America and the Pacific.

Title Transfer—Places Shipments of materials to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis, with the shipper required to file a sworn statement with port collectors that title has been transferred before the ship can sail.

Combat areas—Empowers the President to establish danger zones into which American ships cannot go.

Travel—Forbids Americans from traveling on belligerent vessels.

Foreign bonds—Prohibits the sale of bonds of belligerents in this country; forbids American citizens to make loans to warring nations; forbids the solicitation of funds for belligerents, except for medical aid, food, and clothing to relieve suffering.

American ports—Authorizes the President to restrict the use of American ports by armed vessels of belligerents.

Munitions Board—Empowers the Board to control the manufacture and export of arms through licenses.

MISSISSIPPI SEAFOOD COMMISSION.

BI-ENNIAL report of the Mississippi Seafood Commission reveals the important results of that body in its solicitation for the preservation and propagation of gulf Coast fisheries, particularly our oyster, the most important of all and one that is more susceptible to results of neglect.

The revenues have exceeded expenditures. While that is an evidence of good business and intelligent application, the better part of the report is found in the story that 10,021 barrels of oysters and 117,110 oyster shells were planted on the gulf coast reefs to further the process of propagation.

What was formerly the Oyster Commission is now the Mississippi Seafood Commission. This takes in a broader scope of work and its results are not only far-reaching in constructive effect but is saving the State one of its chief industries, fisheries, and making possible a livelihood for thousands of men along the coast.

Were it not for the wisdom of the legislature some years back in creating this commission, we do not hesitate to say the oyster reefs of Mississippi would be depleted and well a thing of the past. Well do we remember when steam dredges plied the reefs in and out of season, collecting the immature bivalves and no provision was provided for replenishment.

Hence it is refreshing to learn of the biennial report that has just been made public and filed with Governor White and Secretary of State Walker Wood.

MAGIC GROWTH OF JACKSON.

UNDoubtedly Jackson is the fastest-growing city in the state of which there are practically new evidences every day.

Recently the announcement was officially given that one of the major electric corporations of America was going to immediately build a manufacturing plant for lighting appliances at a cost of three-quarters of a million dollars.

Another evidence of continued growth is found in the following article from the Jackson press of Tuesday.

A well-known report is current that a company of local capitalists are planning the construction of a 14-story office building on the site on Congress street between Capitol and the new state house. Full details are not yet available.

Within the past 60 days all office building space in Jackson has been taken up, and it is impossible to get quarters in any of the larger structures. At least a half dozen second floors of store buildings are being remodelled for office purposes.

A report is also current that a modern apartment hotel costing more than a half million dollars will be built during the early part of next year. Plans and speculations are now being drawn.

We are naturally proud of the rapid growth of our capital city. Mississippi with its teeming successes of the Gulf Coast, is rapidly coming to the front ranks.

ABOUT LIFE ON MARS.

THERE has been speculation for years over the existence of life upon the planet Mars.

Not only have scientists engaged in the pleasant pastime but ordinary citizens have practiced their imaginations upon the subject. Of late, however, scientists have contended there existed little or no oxygen on Mars and, consequently, no life. This has dampened the ardor of the debate.

We perform a public service, at least to the imaginatively inclined, at this time by calling attention to the views of Dr. Theodore Dunning, of the Mount Wilson Observatory staff, who says that present knowledge does not justify the assertion that no life exists on Mars. With this expert opinion in hand, advocates of life on Mars can take a fresh start and resume the argument where they left off.

Hollywood Notes.

IMAGINE receiving 10,000 letters in one week! And yet, such screen stars as Clark Gable, Tyrone Power, Mickey Rooney, Jeanette MacDonald and others receive that many and more letters from their admirers—and critics—practically every week. And, what's more, they read as many of them as possible.

While most of us consider a beautiful face and attractive figure one of the essentials to a screen career, yet there are many actors and actresses whose faces are surely not their fortunes, but who are among the most popular and highly paid in Hollywood. We only mention a few—Edna May Oliver, Bert Lahr, Eddie Collins, Wallace Beery, Mickey Rooney, Boris Karloff and Victor McLaglen—to give you our idea.

Doris Jordan who came to Hollywood as a candidate for the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," is being tested for the leading feminine role in Gary Cooper's "The Outlaw."

Appearing in "1,000,000 B. C." which Hal Roach will direct and D. W. Griffith produce, will be Lon Chaney, Jr. who recently completed "Of Mice and Men," Carole Landis, Victor Mature and John Hubbard.

Sydney Young, 16-year-old Texas girl, who rode in the recent rodeo at the Madison Square Garden, attracted the attention of Mervyn Leroy, who put her under contract and plans to use her in an early production.

Another horror picture is being planned at Universal, where "The Electric Man," will be made with Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi tentatively cast in leading roles.

It might interest girls who like to make themselves up like Hollywood favorites to know that a make-up kit for the average actress costs around $300. Better start saving those pennies.

Immediately after completing his work in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," Sir Cedric Hardwicke, noted British actor, is leaving for England to report for active service. David Niven will also soon say farewell, for a time, to his screen career, planning to leave soon for England and war service.

Spencer Tracy's in a quandary. His two English setters have presented him with enormous families and now Tracy doesn't know just what to do with the pups.

If and when Dorothy Lamour appears with Tyrone Power in "Johnny Apollo," we hope she will not have to wear a sarong.

Ann Sheridan has consented to appear in trailer short for the Christmas Drive of the Red Cross, giving it plenty of "oomph," we guess.

Edward G. Robinson's next picture scheduled is "Moon and Sixpence."

Columbia Studio is planning to produce Somerset Maugham's play, "Too Many Husbands," with Jean Arthur, Fred McMurran and Melvyn Douglas heading the cast and with Wesley Ruggles directing.

Warner Brothers is trying to persuade Lawrence Oliver to play the part in their production of "No Time for Comedy," which he created on Broadway.

For fifty years Christian churches have sought to remove an unjust discrimination against them in the state constitution. The decision will be made Tuesday, November 7th. Vote for the two Mortmain Amendments so that citizens of this state may by will under restrictions leave a portion of their property to church institutions. No other state forbids them to do this. One voting in the election, entitled to vote on the amendments, is counted as voting against them. Roll tax receipts are required. Each church member is requested to get ten persons to go to the polls and vote for the two amendments. We are counting on you—Andrew J. Boyles, Pastor.

INCREASING AREA OF PUBLIC OYSTER GULF COAST REEFS

What the Mississippi Food Commission Is Doing for This Section—Facts Figures.

By JOHN HANCOCK

Safeguarding the future oyster crops off the Mississippi gulf coast, the Mississippi Sea Food Commission during the past two years has planted 10,021 barrels of oysters and 117,110 barrels of oyster shells on oyster reefs along the coast, according to the biennial report of the commission, just filed with Governor White and Secretary of State Walker Wood for presentation to the next legislative session. The report sets out that its revenue for the two-year period came to $46,926, including $5,888 cash on hand at the beginning of the biennium, and its expenses were $42,838. Of the income, largest amount was from the taxes on 1,057,004 barrels of oysters, which netted $26,425, while privilege licenses brought $13,538 and fines for violation of oyster laws netted $683.

Expenditures of the Sea Food Commission included not only the planting of oysters and oyster shells on old reefs and building of new reefs, but all work connected with the commission regulating the catching, packing and shipping of oysters, shrimp, fish and seafood. The expenses listed also include upkeep and repairs to the patrol boat used by the commission in enforcing its regulations, but does not include payments on contracts for construction, equipment and furnishing of the new patrol boat, under a special appropriation. "The commission is continually increasing the area of the public reefs of Mississippi and using every reasonable effort to increase the size and quality of the oysters taken," the report declares, "and it is the aim of the commission to enlarge the productive area of the bottom of the waters of our state until Mississippi will have sufficient oyster reefs to provide for its industry without fishermen being required to fish oysters in adjoining states."

Much federal assistance has been granted in development of the reefs, the report says, and the commission has co-operated in every way possible to get best results from federal projects and continues to invite and develop federal aid.

"Every violation of the law that has come to the attention of the Commission has been prosecuted and every appeal taken from a conviction has been followed up in the appellate court with vigorous prosecution so that there has not been an acquittal in any appeal case during the past biennium," the report proudly comments, which is something of a record, I'm sure. By following this policy, it continues, "respect for the laws has been brought about and the best feeling of co-operation has developed between the fishermen engaged in catching the seafoods, the packers, the commission and others interested in this industry." In case you are interested, the report also shows that in the 1937-38 season, 152,396 barrels of oysters were taken from the public reefs, and in 1938-39 this hopped to 217,722 barrels. All of which indicates the commission is doing a good job and working to conserve this valuable resource of the state.

EATON J. BOWERS.

Perhaps none knew the late Eaton J. Bowers over a longer period and more intimately than Col. Money, editor of the Biloxi-Gulfport Herald. Here is the editorial tribute he paid the lamented Bowers:

It is with distress and profound sense of loss that we have to announce for South Mississippi, the Gulf Coast and particularly Harrison County, and personally, the death of Honorable Eaton J. Bowers, one of the most dynamic speakers, foremost lawyers and practitioners; one of the most astute political scientists, one of the most influential congressmen, and one of the best informed and scholarly gentlemen we have known.

His death in New Orleans Thursday midnight came at a ripe age after he had been admitted to the bar before being of age; after his great success in law and statesmanship; after he had reared a family who reciprocated his devotion and loyalty, whose members never wanted for anything that he was able to procure; after he had made thousands of loyal friends, had thousands of admirers, and impressed himself upon the bar and made himself heard with attention in the halls of Congress.

Mr. Bowers had an exceedingly active mind and lively interest in life. His memory was marvelously accurate and vivid, which gave him command of his vast reading on all subjects, and therefore made him an exceptional extemporaneous speaker. His thorough knowledge of law and the aptness of his mind, with his excellent memory, enabled him to answer any question of law instantly, and this faculty was undiminished to the day of his death. He was of great wit which, with his memory, his readiness and his great love of humor and fellowship, made him unexcelled as a postprandial speaker. Surely, we shall not look upon his like again.

His life was filled with activity and brilliant and notable achievement. Throughout his married life he had a most noble companion—a help indeed most meet for man. The soul of unselfish affection devoted to her first love and their family, loyal and faithful to the end. Mrs. Bowers, herself the daughter of a prominent lawyer of Fire Prevention.

This is the time of year when we may expect an increase in the number of fires due to starting fires in furnaces, stoves, heaters, etc., on account of colder weather. Householders should have their chimneys, electrical wiring and other fire hazards in attics and basements inspected before cold weather sets in.

The attic is an extra source of danger as a fire there is generally not discovered until it has a good start and is hard to get under control. Usually 60 per cent of attic fires result in complete loss.

It would be a good policy to have a Fire Prevention Expert inspect your home and other buildings for fire hazards at least once a year, preferably in the fall before cold weather starts. Then do as he recommends.

Remember there are approximately 1000 dwellings destroyed by fire every 24 hours in the United States. There are also 96 farm buildings, 1 hospital, 12 hotels, 4 warehouses, 3 school houses, 5 churches, 6 department stores, 2 theaters, 8 public garages, 3 printing plants, 3 dry goods stores and every 20 minutes fire destroys one human life. Our National fire loss is over $500,000,000 per year, and the greater part 90 per cent due to carelessness.

JUSTICE GRIFFITH SPEAKER.

Zealous guarding of individual rights was urged by Justice Virgil A. Griffith of Jackson, in a talk before the Rotary Club at Gulfport on the subject of "Freedom Under Our American Bill of Rights." Ten years ago, Germany was a republic, Judge Griffith said, and little by little, individual rights have been taken away until today the chancellor calls his parliament together, not to learn its decisions, but rather to express his own. Recent attempts of a federal commission to limit radio speeches were deplored by the speaker as a possible infringement on rights of free speech and a free press, so essential to the maintenance of an informed citizenry.

WOODS OF HANCOCK CO. SUPPLIES MANY PHASES FOR LOCAL EMPLOYMENT

"It is interesting to note as you travel about over Hancock county the number of persons engaged in the different phases of lumbering," says J. S. Shaw, Hancock county ranger.

"This supplies the county with practically a new industry, giving labor to many people who otherwise might be unemployed."

"There is quite an increase in employment of cutting and hauling paper wood, poles and piling and saw mills. This is all well and good where proper attention is given to trees that are being removed, with an idea of making your forest a source of permanent income and employment. Care should be used in order not to take out too many, as this will reduce the maximum income as well as employment."

The forests of Hancock county continue to prove a valuable asset to the people and Forest Ranger Shaw is safeguarding the future when he says, "care should be used in order not to take out too many (trees) as this will reduce the maximum income as well as employment."

It is surprising to the layman to know what industrial activity continues thru the woods of Hancock. There is still logging, cutting pines for wood pulp, poles for wire stringing, poles and fence posts, and not forgetting the turpentine and rosin industry.

Well is the injunction to preserve our forests to the extent that many continue to enjoy its fruit but not to denude to the extent our immediate future will be gone.

Wild Oats and Wood Hogs.
County Ranger Shaw is also interested in other things that will aid the county in addition to the direct preservation of forests. He says:

"I am informed by a stockman that wild oats make a good grazing for stock running at large. Stock in Hancock county should be doing well this fall as there seems to be a bumper crop of wild oats in certain areas of the county where the woods were not burned for the past few years."

"Wood hogs seem to be in good order where the fire did not burn. It seems that stock raising might be an up coming business for Hancock county."

Survey finds that 95 per cent of Americans want to keep out of war.

TRIUMVIRATE OF STARS COMING TO A&G THEATER SUNDAY

And Monday—Shearer, Crawford and Russell in Film, "The Women,"—It's All About Men.

It's all about men and not a man in it is the film showing, "The Women," to be presented Sunday and Monday at the Bay St. Louis A. & G. Theater.

It's quite shocking that one woman should write such a story about women, but nevertheless it's true and the question, however, bobs up, "Is the author traitor to her sex?" Well, dear reader, you may best answer that question by attending the performance.

No doubt, you will want to see it again.

Out of the boudoir—on to the screen! See women as they don't see themselves! Dowagers and debutantes! Chorines and mannequins! Countesses and cowgirls! See them in cold cream and mud packs! In smart boudoirs and sleek salons! See them with their hair down and their claws out! See 135 of them biting, kicking, scratching and kissing in the most hilarious battle over men ever screened!

The battle of the Century! No tactics barred! The Broadway stage hit is now a screen sensation. Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell are supported by such stars as Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, Phyllis Povah, Joan Fontaine, Virginia Weidler, Lucille Watson.

Such scintillating stars such smart play and the tops in talent. The A. & G. Theater is especially proud to present so splendid a drama, one of wit and cleverness. The best yet and no woman, and men as well will want to miss it.

Methodist Orphan Home Gets $30,000 Saving Merchandise Coupons.

Those not familiar with the various sources from which denominational Homes of our Southern States derive income, will be surprised to learn that a steady flow of cash comes from the modest soap coupons. One child-caring Home has received more than $30,000.00, others have gained substantially large sums, thru this same source.

Alert housewives of Mississippi were quick to visualize, in the saving of coupons, the unusual opportunity afforded them to help their favorite charities—without cost to themselves. With them, the saving of coupons has become a sort of daily ritual, performed to help unfortunate boys and girls in the Church-supported Homes of the State.

Most of these coupons are from the well known family of Octagon Soap Products which are used in the majority of households in Mississippi. Other valuable coupons are found in the packages of Rumsford, Baking Powder, Ballard's Obelisk Flour, and Luzaanne Coffee and Tea.

It is only through the earnest effort of all good friends that food, clothing and other necessities can be provided and Homes maintained for the underprivileged boys and girls. The Methodist Home at Jackson, the Baptist Orphanage at Jackson and the Palmer Orphanage at Columbus appeal to you, to continue saving and sending coupons. If you have never been a regular coupon contributor to this worthy cause, start now. Your coupons, be they few or many, will do their part in this wonderful work of supporting the less fortunate.

FOR WINTER LAWN.

(Especially Prepared for the Echo) One of Fall gardening's first thoughts should be the lawn since it is the frame for the house and flowers. The smooth, green, velvety appearance of a well cared for lawn is always pleasing to the eye.

As soon as the first frost is over is the ideal time to plant winter grass since Italian rye is a winter grass and likes cold weather. Just lawn sowing if you have present big lumps. Water the lawn thoroughly every day until the grass comes up. Use a good commercial fertilizer every six weeks, and if your lawn shows a tendency to be yellow, sprinkle on some nitrate of soda. Within twenty-four to thirty six hours your lawn will be a verdant green. For stubborn sections of the lawn, don't forget other ground covers other than grass. Pachysandra, ophiopogon, ivy—all offer themselves as attractive ground covers.

Partridge berry, and mosses lend themselves well for shady locations. Ferns, with their feathery fronds are fine as ground covers in special locations. Oxalis and violets grown in profusion will add a different note to a corner of the lawn.

And one of the most valuable grasses to be had in this climate is St. Augustine grass. It is as hard to get as it is good to have, but well worth running down and establishing in your lawn. And just a word to the strong man of the family who indulges in the mowing, winter grass does better and looks better for frequent mowings.

ROLL CALL APPEAL

Faced with a growing demand for Red Cross assistance to the stricken populations of Europe's warring nations and a need for strengthening its domestic operations, the American Red Cross will embark November 11th on the greatest membership campaign since the World War.

The success of Roll Call this year will gauge the amount of assistance the American Red Cross can give the sick and injured. Along the nation's highways, in the homes of the underprivileged, in hospitals, schools and at the scenes of disaster, the Red Cross is facing a challenge for greater service. During the last twelve month period extending through June of this year, this country was faced with the largest number of disasters in its history. Tornadoes, floods, hurricanes, mine explosions and calamity in its various forms struck in one hundred and fifty-seven communities in forty-three states.

Now with Europe at war, the American Red Cross is confronted with tremendously increased responsibilities and this year is redoubting its appeal to the American people for support in the battle against human suffering. This year's appeal to you will begin on November 11th to 30th, and as our community has never hailed to respond to the Red Cross appeal for assistance, it is hoped that everyone will be ready when approached by Roll Call workers.

Want Congress To Set Thanksgiving Day

Washington, Oct. 30 — Senator Bridges (R-NH) is going to ask Congress "to end all this confusion about Thanksgiving day created by President Roosevelt." He is drafting a bill, he said today, to make the last Thursday of November "a public holiday that is standardized throughout the United States."

Two Republican House members—case of South Dakota and Reed of Illinois—have made similar proposal.

Personal and General

On last Tuesday night at the Bay High School Auditorium, the Parent-Teachers' Association entertained at a large Halloween dance with a good crowd of the school set and members and friends of the P. T. A. present.

A committee on decorations, headed by Mrs. A. P. Smith and assisted by Mesdames W. J. Gex, Jr., Wallace Catchings and Messrs. Hapes and Surge, and others had decorated the entire auditorium in Halloween colors and with Halloween emblems—black cats, pumpkins, corn in the sheaf all about, and two large pumpkins in which electric lights had been placed were suspended from the center of the hall. The effect was beautiful and the Halloween spirit was well depicted in the decorations throughout.

Music for the dance was furnished by the radio record player loaned by Milton Phillips, young son of M. and Mrs. M. A. Phillips, and chaperones for the dance were members of the Parent-Teachers Association.

An able committee headed by Mesdames J. T. Wolfe and Albert Biehl served delicious refreshments thru-out the evening and the entire affair was considered a huge success.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour and the dance brought out a large crowd of the school set from Bay St. Louis and a number from adjacent Coast towns.

On Monday night, the high school and boarding students of St. Joseph Academy enjoyed a Halloween party when the beautiful refectory of the convent was transformed into a veritable haunt of spooks and witches with the various emblems and decorations depicting the Halloween season. Party refreshments were served in the refectory and several games played, among which was a scavenger hunt, and later in the evening, everyone crossed over to the gymnasium and danced until a late hour.

MISS MARION ELAINE ORTTE BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. R. E. CONNER.

On Wednesday noon Miss Marion Elaine Ortte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ortte of Clermont Harbor, and Robert E. Conner, son of Mrs. Evelyn Conner of Bay St. Louis, were united in marriage in a simple ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents before only immediate relatives of the two families, with the Rev. W. S. Allen, pastor of the Bay St. Louis Baptist church officiating.

The reception rooms of the home were prettily decorated with cut flowers, and after the ceremony, a dinner was served to the bride couple and relatives attending the wedding. Late in the afternoon, the young couple left by motor for a trip to Atlanta, Ga., and to a number of the large cities in the east.

Miss Ortte is a graduate of Bay High School where she finished with honors and was acclaimed May Queen. Mr. Conner is a graduate of West Point and attended the University of Mississippi and is engaged in the practice of law here. The wedding claimed interest here and throughout the Coast where both young people are well known, and the shower of beautiful gifts received by the young couple attested the prominence and popularity of both.

LADIES OF ASSOCIATION ENTERTAIN AT ALL HALLOWEEN PARTY.

On Thursday night, the local Review of the Women's Benefit Association entertained its members at a Halloween party given in the private dining hall of Palmisano's Tavern on Uman avenue when a large number of the members attended. The dining hall was tastefully decorated with Halloween emblems about the walls and on the long table, orange candle-holders held black candles and vases were filled with flowers in golden and yellow shades. Party refreshments in the Halloween motif were served.

Several clever games caused much merriment and prizes were awarded the winners of same. Place cards were applied.

This party was one of the most delightful of the Halloween season and every member of the W. B. A. enjoyed it to the superlative extent. The Misses Miriam and Levia Engman were largely instrumental in this success. They originated and presented lots of novelties and party conceits that proved uproariously funny, among which the cream pie eating contests, with hands down, provided no end of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmisano were untiring in their efforts in catering to the comfort and satisfaction of the party and in a great measure the party success, too, was due to their co-operation.

MRS. J. W. BRYAN TO ENTERTAIN AT LUNCHEON THIS FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. John W. Bryan will entertain this afternoon at a large luncheon party at Hotel Reed, Bay St. Louis, complimenting Miss Betty Ricau, whose forthcoming marriage to Mr. Lawrence Jaubert, this month will be one of the outstanding social events, both young people exceedingly popular in New Orleans and Gulf Coast society.

This forthcoming marriage is claiming wide attention and Miss Ricau, New Orleans debutante, is feted on all sides.

The guests for today's affair will include members of the bridal party and a few extra guests, New Orleans and Bay St. Louis.

3 tablespoons flour
2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
